

JCJ Legislative Training

Advocacy training for your synagogue, youth group, camp, and more!

JCJ's three-part legislative advocacy training provides participants of all ages a blueprint for how to be an effective activist.

Session 1:

Rooting legislative advocacy in Jewish tradition and values.

Session 2:

Strategies for educating ourselves on the pressing issues, building an advocacy plan, and creating a call or email script for legislator outreach.

Session 3:

A conversation with a community leader or elected official on how to best communicate advocacy messages to those in power.

- Empowers current and future leaders to build a more compassionate and equitable world.
- Provides justice activists with unique opportunities to formulate their voices and make an impact on issues from immigration to gun violence prevention to economic justice.
- Connects Judaism's ancient tradition to our contemporary world in a way that creates a better and more just society for future generations.

"In just a few sessions, our teens learned how their Jewish values intersect with local, state, and countrywide social and political matters today. Another valuable part was the confidence the teens gained in their voice and how they can directly affect change."

– Sarah Bate, Community Youth Engagement Director, Jewish Crescent City Youth (JewCCY)
